Background

The New York State Office of Children & Family Services (OCFS) announces an opportunity for qualified entities that; can provide customized afterschool programming for juvenile offenders placed at Industry Residential Center, which is located in Western New York State, in Rush, NY. The facility’s comprehensive services include academic, vocational and special education, a behavior management system, medical care and mental health and substance abuse counseling. OCFS is looking for a afterschool program that espouses a mission to empower at-risk young people with the skills necessary to promote unity, safety, and achievement in schools and communities at large. The program would complement the comprehensive programs already in place at Industry Residential Center.

This advertisement is public notice that OCFS is seeking to contract with one (1) organization to provide afterschool programming for juvenile justice involved youth, between the ages of 14 and 18 years old, who have been placed in the custody of OCFS by the family court. The afterschool program must be geared towards providing youth in a secure residential setting with recreational, mentoring and team-building activities for approximately 30 hours per week, which will include occasional weekends and holidays, at the convenience of Industry Residential Center.

OCFS is seeking an afterschool program that will parallel the experience of youth in the community who would attend a similar programing. The proposed program curriculum should target youth involved in the deep end of the juvenile justice system and address risk factors which directly impacts recidivism. These factors include barriers to employment, substance abuse, lack of family involvement, poor peer associations and a lack of community involvement. The afterschool program must stimulate and assist youth with positive activities and interactions during their free time and provide a model that supports structured recreational activities, and mentoring opportunities which will foster the development of pro-social skills and positive experiences and relationships through teamwork. Programing should also focus on instituting teambuilding exercises that will foster the development of positive experiences, positive skills and positive relationships building for the youth participants.

The purpose of this opportunity is to invite any eligible and interested entities that believe they can satisfy this program’s needs to inform OCFS by a Letter of Interest (LOI). To be considered responsive, your organization’s LOI must be received no later than the deadline specified on the first page of this announcement.
